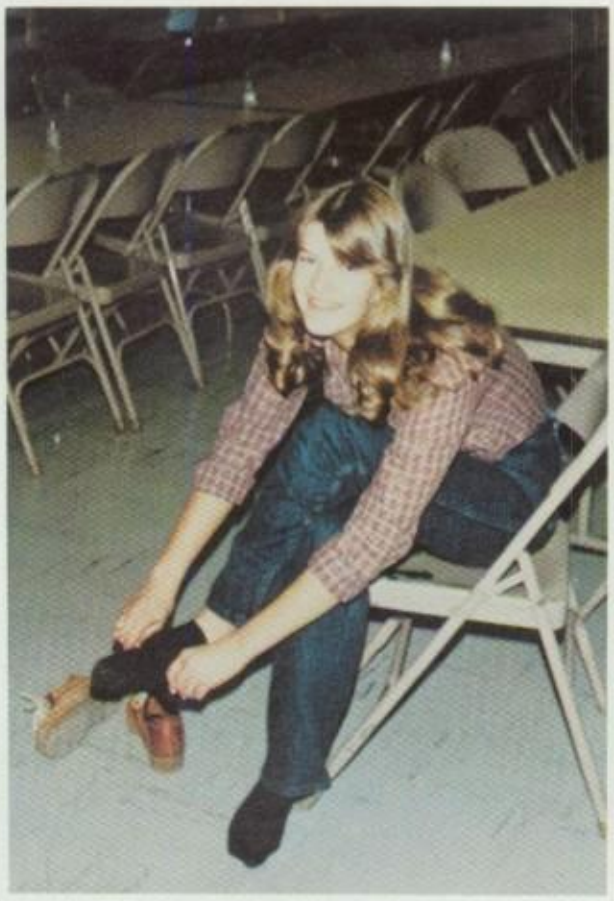
Mrs. Woody called Gina to the journalism room to ask her opinion on what Mr. & Miss Shamrock should wear for pictures. Gina said, "A suit and a dress would be nice." Mrs. Woody gave Gina a big smile and said that she had better bring a dress tomorrow. And this is how Gina Cook and Jeff Gibson learned they were selected the 1981 Mr. & Miss Shamrock.

Gina and Jeff have always been involved in many extracurricular activities. Gina has been a member of choir, band, FHA, FBLA, National Honor Society, publications, as well as holding offices in these organizations. Jeff was president of FFA, vice president of the student council, and has held many class offices.

Gina and Jeff were chosen for this award because of their good leadership qualities, readiness to give their time to school betterment, cooperation in school activities, and an average or better scholastic standing.

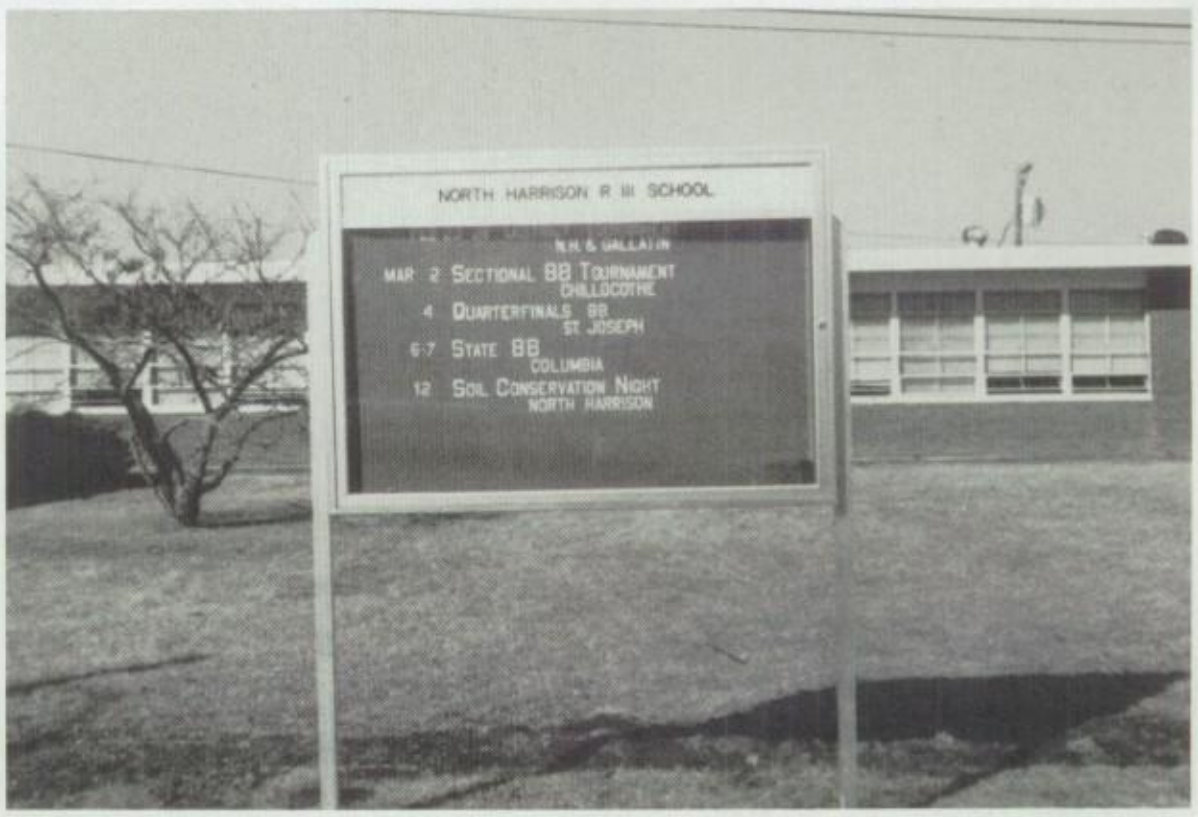
Gina and Jeff said, "We were very happy and honored that the faculty had chosen us out of the senior class."



MR & MISS SHAMROCK

Dwight . . ...

Almost a man, this boy who died,
Who came to our school and walked by our side
For such a little while; and yet,
He became a friend we will not forget.



In February of 1981 a lighted activity sign was installed on campus. It was purchased by donations from friends and The American Typewriter Co, Maryville, Mo. But the main source of funds was from Homer Turnbull, the father of Dwight Turnbull. Dwight was killed during a motorcycle accident June 26, 1980.

The Homecoming basketball games were played against the Cainsville Redmen with the Shamrocks coming out the victor of both games. The pom pon girls did a routine to "Working Day and Night" during the half time of the boys game, and the majorettes performed after the boys game to the theme from "Dallas". A parade of the "mini-floats" preceded the coronation. After the coronation, a dance was held in the elementary gymnasium where the couples danced to the music of "Melt Down".

Senior candidate Tami Kaufman escorted by Stan Bennett.

"I was so happy, I just couldn't believe it was happening to me. My oldest sister was elected queen her Senior year also, so that made it even more special," said Tami Kaufman.

"I Could Have

The entertainment for the evening was provided by "Tempest", a band from NWMSU at Maryville. During the dance Rod Hutton and Bonnie Crites were crowned King and Queen.

Danced All Night"

The prom theme this year was "Stairway to Heaven", which the Juniors are sure that none of the Seniors knew ahead of time.

With the cafeteria decorated as a country scene, the banquet started at 7:00 p.m. with a welcome given by Jeff King. The Seniors response was given by Mark Cook and the Prophecy was read by Bart Miller. Mr. Clair added his comments on the Prom and Senior trip and after Diane Blair gave the Invocation, dinner was served.

After the meal was over, Shelly Gibson made a toast to the Seniors and Tami Kaufman read the Senior Class will. After the reading of the will, Sherri Grabill presented the Junior Sponsors, Mr. Arnold, Mrs. Smith, and Mr. McDowell with corsages and boutonnieres. The closing remarks were given by Jeff King and with that he told everyone to climb the "Stairway to Heaven".

Everyone climbed up the stairs that led from the cafeteria to the stage. After reaching the edge of the stage there was only one more step to take and that step was the step into Heaven. They stepped up on a cloud platform and looked out in the gym to see a mansion at the south end with angelic scenes and streamers for the others walls.

When the clock struck midnight the visit had ended. Everyone left with a good feeling and an insight of Heaven.

Tribute To The Class of '81

Memories of your school days,
Pictures of years past;
Events of years past,
Now, graduation comes at last.

Each has a glimmer in their eye,
Tears are close at hand;
Now, you are leaving this school,
To see what God has planned.

We wish you the best of luck,
You are sure to succeed;
Conquering each and every day,
Fulfilling your every need.

Class of '82 salutes you,
May all your dreams come true;
You deserve the best of everything,
Our thoughts go with you.

From the Juniors
by Julie Smith

Nineteen of the twenty-two seniors spent four sunless days in South Missouri, but it was without worry. Thirty days before the seniors left they needed $1200.00 to pay for the trip, but with hard work they pulled together and raised the money needed.

The bus ride was long, but with the help of a few clowns, it wasn't boring. On the way home, Bart Miller was late in getting to the bus and was almost left behind.

Due to the summer delivery, this is the first senior trip recorded in the SHAMROCK. Perhaps, with the help of these pictures, the memories the seniors have shared will never be forgotten.

WORKING DAY AND NIGHT

Dallas Country

The marching band and performing at homecoming has kept the majorettes very busy this year. The majorettes marched with the band at Maryville and St. Joseph.

The twirlers performed their routine to the theme from "Dallas" at homecoming.

Student Council

Let us first define student council. Student, as you all know is our present occupation and council is an administrative or legislative body. So, the Student Council is a bridge between the students and the administration. It can represent the students to the administration, or the administration to the students.

Student Council is not only student involvement, but student activities as well.

The Student Council responsibilities are Homecoming and Christmas Ball. They also had a booth at the Carnival for a money making project.

Hotline Staff Front: Tessie Whittom, Shelly Gibson, Lisa Arkle, Sherri Grabill, Cindy Flowers. Back: Kelly Slaughter, Diane Blair, Meloni Bryant.

The National Honor Society is made up of students that are selected and voted on by the faculty. When choosing the members many things are taken into consideration, such as scholarship, leadership, character, and service. These students have also, put a special emphasis on their academic achievements. Only the few students that meet these high standards can proudly call themselves members of the North Harrison National Honor Society.

Brenda Hartschen was chosen alternate for a scholarship of $1,000 out of 250 people. She will be awarded the funds if one of the 250 people who have been awarded the scholarship turn it down.

HOTLINE STAFF

Editor ..... Meloni Bryant
Asst. Editor ..... Tessie Whittom
Copy Editor ..... Cindy Flowers
Advisor ..... Frances Woody

Thanks to the Lamoni Chronicle, North Harrison High is able to publish a weekly newspaper without cost to the school district.

The Hotline staff members write the copy, headlines, and submit pictures, and the Chronicle staff does the layout. For the past two years the Hotline Staff did the layout but transportation problems forced a change in routine.

Standard features of the HOTLINE are general news articles, news briefs, sports, senior spotlight, and an occasional editorial.

One problem with a weekly publication is old news but staff members overlook this in the excitement of a byline.

Marching My Life Away

Lori Bennett, Julie Smith, and Brenda Hartschen came back to school and proudly announced they got a I rating on their flute trio at State Music Contest at Columbia.

Mrs. Beth Smith, band director, was the accompanist.

This is the first instrumental group that has received a I rating at State Contest for a number of years.

Concert Band

The concert band has excelled this year under the direction of Beth Smith. The band perform the Christmas concert, the pre-contest concert, and the spring concert. They received an overall rating of II at district music contest at Maryville, which included a I rating on sight reading.

Several ensembles also went to contest including some students who were unable to take band this year. The brass quartet received a II; the saxophone trio also received a II, and the flute trio received a I rating.

Instrumental solos included II ratings for Lori Bennett and Kimberly Boothe on flute solos, II ratings for Gina Cook and Brenda Hartschen on piano solos, and a III rating for Vonda Skinner on a piano solo.

Some of the members of the marching band probably felt as though they were marching their lives away during the year. Their first marching band contest was at Maryville on October 11. Their second and last contest took place in St. Joseph. Although this may not seem like much, it was because they came to school early in the morning and practiced until school started and then they practiced during Marching Band class. Everyone was greatly relieved to see marching band season end; although, it was fun while it lasted. Two of the members will be leaving North Harrison because they are seniors so they will not be participating in Marching Band next year. They are: Lori Bennett and Brenda Hartschen. Lori played the flute for two years. Brenda was the drum majorette for two years.

Singing to the World

Although there were only eight members in choir, they were still able to accomplish quite a lot this year. They performed at the Christmas party. The choir did not compete as a group at the music contest because of the small number; however, some did take solos.

Lori Bennett performed a vocal solo and received a II at state contest, and Tessie Whittom received a III rating. Cindy Flowers also performed a vocal solo and received a II; although, she is not in choir.

The choir sang at Spring Concert.

FHA

Some of the activities of the FHA were: Installation of Officers, Spaghetti Supper, Bike-A-Thon for St. Jude's, FHA Initiation, Christmas Caroling, FHA Week, Served Soil Conservation Supper, Bake Sale, and four members attended the state meeting in Columbia. They were Julie Smith, Sherri Grabill, Cindy Flowers, and Linda Hamilton.

MAN OVERBOARD

Inflation caused the junior class to act. A new money making project was needed, therefore the juniors put on the play, "Man Overboard". "The community seemed to enjoy it and it was good experience for the students," said Mrs. Smith, sponsor. The play was put on October 23 and 25, and was attended by 400 people.

The whole project was a success but certainly not without effort. The hours spent on rehearsal were roughly ten, two to three hour practice sessions. "When the curtain went up, the set was very refreshing and colorful, but did not overpower the actors. It was also very professional looking," said Sonya Selby.

"Let's Get Fired Up!"

Cheerleaders have played an important part in high schools all over the United States in large and small schools alike and the cheerleaders of North Harrison were no different.

The North Harrison squad made some constructive changes this year. The one that tops the list is the large mural painted on the south wall of the gymnasium of all the conference mascots. With the help of custodian Bill Heyle, it was finished before the first ballgame.

Also, there was only one cheerleader that would have cheered during the varsity girls games, (the others played basketball.) which prompted the decision to elect two mascots. The Jr. High cheerleaders also helped cheer during the varsity girls games. The cheerleaders also received support from two sponsors this year instead of being sponsored by just one. Their help was very much appreciated.

The cheerleaders decided to hold a "mini-float" contest instead of the traditional poster contest during Homecoming assembly, due to the fact that all this paper used for posters presented a handicap to the Art Department. They felt that this went over real well.

Although there were changes the cheerleaders still had their old responsibilities such as practicing in the summer before camp, attending an all day camp in June, putting on assemblies to increase spirit and of course performing at the basketball games.

"Busy-ness" is a key word in the Business Department of NHHS where Mrs. Jane Smith teaches basic business subjects which give students an introduction to practical business practices that they will encounter in the adult world. GENERAL BUSINESS is an introductory overview of business practices in the American economic system. BUSINESS LAW is a fundamental law course explaining legal rights and responsibilities of U. S. citizens and especially of consumers and businesses. PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT stresses the promise that "Success is 90% personality." BUSINESS MATH is a basic math course geared toward practical applications of mathematics in our everyday business world both as a business employee and a consumer. TYPEWRITING is a beginning typing course where the student learns to operate a typewriter by touch. ACCOUNTING is a course for juniors or seniors which thoroughly covers basic accounting principles for double-entry bookkeeping. SHORTHAND trains students to take dictation at a fast rate of speed by use of shorthand characters and to transcribe these notes into mailable letters or reports.

Jane Smith - Business

Being a history teacher could never be much fun but now that Social Studies is being taught, things have changed. The 7th grade views the world in Old World Background. The 8th grade looks in depth at American history until 1870.

The newspaper and annual gives the student a chance to develop creativity and self-expression.

Upper division social study classes are designed to give the student a view of the real world.

Frances J. Woody - Social Studies and Journalism

Mrs. Wanda Rinehart teaches English at NHHS. Seventh and eighth grade English concentrates on spelling, mechanics, and development of reading comprehension. Students are also introduced to the basic forms of composition. English III is an advance composition course and a survey of American literature. Speech teaches high school students to write speeches for all occasions and to talk directly in front of people. Junior and Senior Advance English reads and explores the adventures of novels.

Wanda Rinehart

Gwen Weate

Home economics is taught by Mrs. Gwen Weate. Junior high home economics strives to expose students to all major facets of home economics and provide them with basic skills to aid them in functioning as independent members of society. Mrs. Weate's high school classes includes: Basic Home Ec., Child Development and Contemporary Living, Interior Housing and International Foods, Family Meals and Home Management, Clothing and Consumer Education.

Mr. Don Kable teaches vocational ag. ANIMAL SCIENCE: Basic instruction in animal production and breeding, farm mechanics, careers, leadership, and Supervised Occupation Experience. PLANT SCIENCE: Basic instruction in cropping, small grain and forage production, soil science, and more instruction in farm mechanics careers, and Supervised Occupational Experience. ADVANCED LIVESTOCK PRODUCTION: More advanced study in livestock production; herd management, nutrition, breeding, production records, selecting and judging, diseases and parasites, and marketing. ADVANCED CROP PRODUCTION: Units in this course will include cropping systems, seed selection, production practices, harvesting and storing, fertilizing, soils, conservation; weed control, diseases and parasites, and marketing. AG CONSTRUCTION I & AG POWER: Involves more advanced skills in repair, adjustment and overhaul of small engine, basic principles of power transmission, hydraulic systems, and tractor and general farm machinery maintenance. AG PROBLEMS: An independent study course in agriculture problems for senior ag students only.

Don Kable

This year Mr. Rod McDowell taught five different science classes and one math class. In seventh grade the emphasis was on energy and work, while in eighth grade chemical experiments were used to develop a mental model for what matter is like. General Science tried to broaden the students' backgrounds in astronomy, meteorology, space science, genetics, statistical analysis, drug abuse, etc.

A new course this year included a one semester look at energy — resources, shortages, alternatives, and technology. The second semester was a course in geology in which they studied all kinds of things such as minerals, rocks, erosion vs. mountain building, a geologic time scale, and plate tectonics.

Our high school science was completed this year with the offering of physics. This included a study of classical mechanics, heat, light, electricity, magnetism, quantum theory, etc. Requiring extensive use of algebra, this class was mostly for college bound students.

Finally, the day wouldn't have been complete without General Math. This course is one last attempt to give high school students a chance to learn and apply the basics of arithmetic. Showing the need for math, problems and related discussions include such topics as purchasing/renting homes, insurance, taxes, utilities, etc. With practical problems, a basic review of mathematical operations and use of decals, fractions, and percents is given the student of general math.

Marsha Edwards

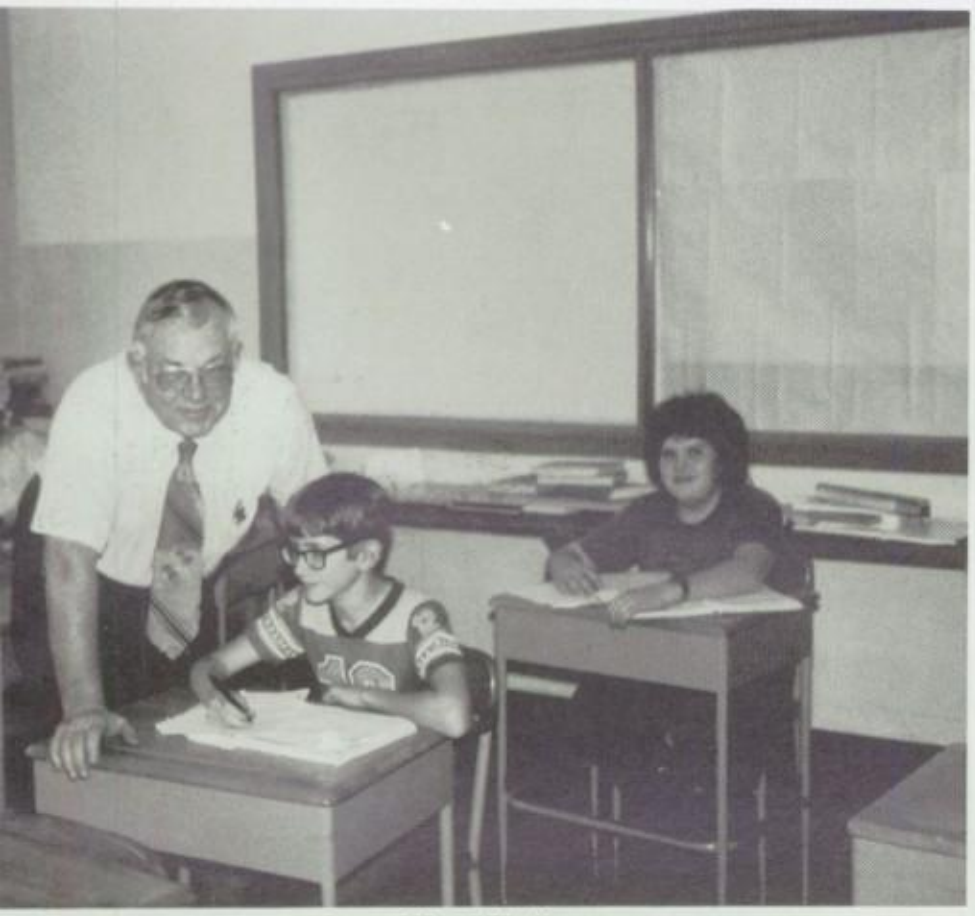
The art program at North Harrison maintains an educational balance between Media and Creativity that provides the student, ultimately, with a practical appreciation of art. It has been the goal of the art department to have the students experience the widest scope of media that our school could provide. That goal has been accomplished. Marsha Edwards, art instructor, teaches Art I and II, elementary art, 7th and 8th grade art.

Organization is the key word in the library. Mrs. June Abplanalp spends her time keeping the books, resource materials and audio visual equipment ready for students in elementary and high school and teachers to use.

June Abplanalp

Mrs. Beth Smith taught elementary and high school music. Her elementary classes included K-6 music and 5th and 6th grade band. Her high school curriculum included 7th and 8th grade music, fundamentals of music, band, and choir. Mrs. Smith was also the sponsor of the marching band. The music department held several concerts throughout the year.

Beth Smith



Harold Flint

Mr. Harold Flint taught biology and math. BIOLOGY exposes the student to information concerning his past and present environment through the study of the Animal Kingdom and the Plant Kingdom. The student is presented a theory of growth, development and reproduction of the invertebrate and the vertebrate animal. The structure, growth and reproduction of the Plant Kingdom is presented to the student through the study of the cell, its function as a part of the living plant and the plant's responsibility to the ecology of our living community. SEVENTH AND EIGHTH GRADE MATH stresses the basic concepts of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division, along with elementary geometry and statistics. GEOMETRY gives the student instruction in the relationship of the point, line and plane through the use of the theorem and its corollary. ALGEBRA I gives the student ensight of the basic concepts concerning, variables, systems of equations, and the various number systems. ALGEBRA II gives the student exposure to more precise structure and methods of the systems of equations and complex variables. During the second semester, trigonometry is the main course of study. Mr. Flint is pictured at the left.

This year Mr. Phillip Young (right) taught English and was also the guidance counselor ENGLISH I stresses mechanics and reading comprehension. Students in the English I class are expected to write a coherent paragraph and some work is done with extended essays. Literature selections featuring drama, short story, poetry and essays are read and analyzed. ENGLISH II stresses application of grammar and mechanics to writing. Several extended essays are completed. Literature selections from around the world are examined in thematic units. ENGLISH IV is a college prep course designed to fine tune writing skills and provide students with the experience of writing a lengthy research paper. Literature study is a survey of English literature. A GUIDANCE COUNSELOR provides help to students with personal, social, and educational concerns.

Phillip Young

The purpose of the Physical Education Program is to allow the students to develop their bodies physically. The department tries to stress the idea of strong mind and body toward the total person. Students have physical talents that the department tries to develop to fulfill their needs. The staff also tries to develop skills that can be used after the student has graduated.

It isn't easy to break into the routine of Junior High after having had one teacher all day and staying in one classroom. "This years seventh grade has made the change remarkably well", claimed Mrs. Woody, one of their teachers.

The seventh grade was involved in several Junior High activities such as basketball and Homecoming. Their float, "The Shamrock Tree", received third place in the Homecoming mini-float contest and almost one-half of the class went out for basketball helping the boys to get a 13-1 record and the girls a 9-3 record.

The class was well represented at the Christmas Ball when Missie Miller was named Princess. Other memorable events that took place were the class' swimming party at Graceland and a play they did called "Look to Laurie" which was about the dangers of smoking.

The seventh grade officers are: Bruce Wallace, president; Tom Francis, vice-president; Robert Smith, secretary; Jim Campbell, treasurer. The class favorites are Jim Campbell and Missie Miller and the Student Council representatives are Darrin Young and Missie Miller. Their sponser is Beth Smith.

The seventh grade remembers . . . Jim setting Lisa's hair on fire . . . the teachers doing a cheer at the assembly . . . Raymond getting paddled . . . when Danny dumped the speaker stand in Study Hall . . . when seven or eight boys got paddled in Mrs. Woody's class . . . when Junior High won the basketball finals . . . and most of all starting the seventh grade.

GRADE

In 1972 North Harrison had a new group of energetic students join its ranks. Now these students are in the Eighth grade with only four years left till they graduate.

The Eighth grade has had a very busy year. They were represented at the Christmas Ball by Carrie Lane and Rodney Cotton, and although they didn't place in the float contest, they spent a lot of time working on their float, "Stomp' em!" which was a giant foot stomping on an Indian.

"If Girls Asked Boys For Dates" was the name of a play they did in which Michelle and Karen played girls who asked Matt and Steve out on a date. Their class party was at Nine Eagles State Park.

Student Council representatives are Perry Stanley and Karen Ury, and the class favorites are Matt Chamberlin and Kathy Blake. Their sponsor is Mrs. Abplanalp.

The Eighth grade say they will never forget the time Matt set the Science room on fire, or when Julie had to stand in the corner for three days in a row in Math. They also won't forget the time Mr. McDowell sat on his desk and Gayla and Angie bounced up.

For the most part, the Eighth grade feels they have had a successful year.

FRESHMEN

The definition of a freshman in Webster's New World Dictionary is, "beginner; a person in the first year of any enterprise."

The freshman class is in the first year of an enterprise, one that will prepare them for life.

Being a freshman has its advantages, such as getting to pick a Homecoming Queen candidate. The ninth grade picked Lisa Myers to represent them at Homecoming. Their float was "Burn Them at the Stake."

The freshman class is very athletic. Four out of five of the first string of the boys and girls' Junior High basketball teams are freshmen. They also participate in track and softball.

John Bennett and Trish Parkhurst were the freshman Christmas Ball candidates for Prince and Princess. John was chosen Prince.

Most of the class is active in FFA and FHA. Kim Boothe was chosen to sing in the FHA Regional Choir and John Bennett was the FFA creed speaker.

The freshmen remember when Ronda had her baby. They also remember when Mrs. Edwards got mad at them at a class meeting and threatened to take their class party away. They plan to go to Nine Eagles for their class party.

The freshmen officers are: John Bennett, president; Steve Richardson, vice-president; Sheryl White, secretary; Julia Heyle, treasurer; Mary Pottorff, reporter.

The class favorites are Mark Blake and Lisa Myers, and Student Council representatives are Vonda Skinner and Kevin Hartschen. Their sponsor is Mrs. Edwards.

NEW KIDS IN TOWN

Freshmen Favorites

Danny Thompson

Pamela Kay Chaney moved to our school in March from Ridgeway. She is living with Don Kabel and his family.

Pam was born May 13, 1967. Her hobbies are playing basketball and playing the flute. Her favorite class is band and her favorite teacher is Beth Smith.

Pam likes NHHS and especially likes living with the Kabels.

Daniel Ray Thompson also moved to our school in March. He and Pam are both in the Eighth grade. Danny moved here from Albany and is living with Keith Pulliam and his family.

Danny was born Nov. 13, 1966. His hobbies are hunting, fishing, swimming, riding horses and chasing girls. Dannys favorite class is P.E. and his favorite teacher is Mrs. Woody.

The thing Danny likes most about this school is the good-looking girls, but the best thing of all is living with the Pulliams.

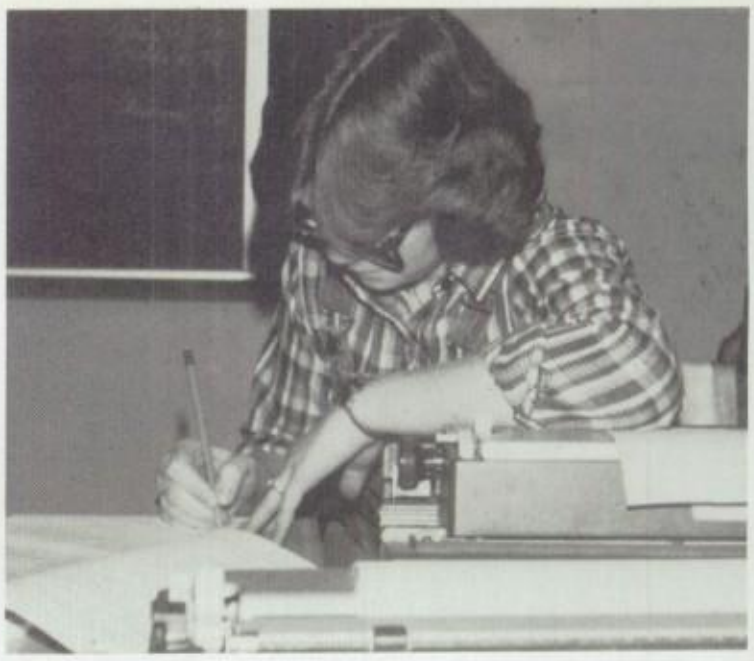
A Big Hit with North Harrison Students



Seventeen North Harrison Students attended classes at Bethany Vocational School everyday. The classes that attracted the Shamrocks were: Farm Mechanics, Auto Mechanics I & II, Welding, Health Occupations, Clerical Practice, and Building Trades.

Ridgeway Building Trades

Four students attended Ridgeway Building Trades for classes. They were Mark Cook, Mike Thomas, Duane Peoppe, and Joe Huitt. Their yearly project was building a house.

"Keep That Spirit Up"

The cheerleaders were: clockwise-Brenda Bennett-mascot, Carla Stanton, Cindy Flowers, Tami Kaufman, Shelly Gibson, Sherri Grabill, Andrea Selby, Linda Hamilton, Tara Kaufman, and Lori Bennett-mascot. Sponsors were Susie Lacy and Nancy Martin.

A new rule states that girls who play basketball will not be allowed to participate in other extracurricular activities such as pom pon, majorette, or cheerleading. Many fear that this will effect the quality of cheerleading at North Harrison, because the remaining cheerleaders who didn't graduate chose not to try out again. In the past few years this squad has gained the respect of many and were said to be the best cheerleading squad in the Conference. The non-returning cheerleaders said that they will miss cheerleading very much. Some said it gives them an excuse to drop some activities from their hectic schedule while others say that it isn't fair for such a small school and it defeats school spirit.

Departing Seniors

Joe Frazier and Brenda Hartschen

The Shamrock boys had a good season, but fell short of a conference championship by only one game. The Shamrocks also had a second place finish in the Gilman City tournament, and a third place finish in the conference tournament. Stan Coulson and Joe Frazier both placed on the all-conference teams. Joe is the only senior, and the team will have six returning letterman. According to Mr. Martin, "The future looks bright for North Harrison Shamrocks."

"The girls remained determined and worked hard all year long," said Coach Gordon, "The highlight of the season was probably the excellent showing in the Gilman City Tournament, where they captured second place. The girls were inexperienced this year, with five sophomores, five juniors, and one senior. This proved to be a determining factor throughout the year. They were also plagued with injuries. The girls are determined to produce a team that the school can be proud of in years to come." Cindy Flowers, junior, made all-conference.

"Shamrock Spirit Never Dies"

"We worked hard this year in our squad on the standards expected of the North Harrison cheerleaders. We worked together on new mounts, cheers, and ideas for increasing the crowd's enthusiasm. We put a lot of effort into our group and felt we came out with a winning squad. A special thanks to our sponsor, Mrs. Watts, we couldn't have done without her help."

Each Little Shamrock

Day is a Big Event

It starts with buying lunch tickets in the all purpose room and continues at a steady pace until the buses are loaded at 3 p.m. The three R's are ever present with Ready to Run to Recess.

Elementary students are privileged to have special classes such as art, music, library, and physical education.

Little Shamrocks, also, are involved in all holiday activities and Homecoming.

And of course room is the learning, but it vals that make experience

Learning is fun when it's

A bicentennial event at North Harrison took on a new name and a new time. Every other year the faculty departs from regular scheduled classes and the CTA sponsors a week of mini classes. These special classes are designed for high interest, or just fun. This year the old National Education week was renamed Spring Serendipity and the late fall or winter time was changed to April.

The Elementary students had four half days while the High School special classes were three full days just before spring break.

Each teacher plans his special classes to motivate interest in learning; but the main goal is a break from routine classes and become involved in something a student would not participate in during the regular school year.

Twenty different classes were offered grades seven through twelve, and kindergarten through six had nine choices.

Things have changed since the 1920's. Perhaps not so much on the square in Eagleville, but in the cost of high school publications.

Across the nation the average cost of a high school annual is $16.00. The cost to the student for the 1980-81 Shamrock is $8.50. The reason for the low price is advertising.

Because the annual staff had several hard working salespersons and a responsive business community over half of the cost of this book was paid for by advertisers.

My thanks to the girls pictured below who worked very hard selling ads, and a special thanks to my Business Manager, Gina Cook who sold more ads than any other student in the class
